Anglers, here's your bait!

FISHING IS A CINCH—By Dave Reddick

Dave, who hails from the City Advertising in the Toronto Store, is one of the central province's best-known anglers. He has written down for us the correct way to do all sorts of things in connection with fishing. If you can look at this well-prepared book, with its attractive illustrations by Geoffrey Goss, and ear-catching chapter heads, and not go on reading, even if you don't know beans about fishing, you're stronger willed than I am! Besides the elementary steps in angling, there are descriptions of fly-casting, bait-casting, and some less orthodox procedures, such as "guddling" or "tickling" a trout, Buchan fashion. There are also chapters on cleaning and cooking your fish, when you've caught it, that is.

Standing Room Only—that is for theatre folk.

STAR QUALITY—By Noel Coward

Here Coward is at his most brilliant and satirical self when dealing with Hollywood as in the first of these six short stories, "A Richer Dust." His third story, titled simply, "Mr. and Mrs. Edgehill," is Coward at his best, describing the responsible character of the little Britisher under stress. It was this type of portrayal which made "The Happy Breed" such a human play.

Still about the theatre is:

MORNING JOURNEY—By James Hilton

In this satirical novel of theatre and movie people, James Hilton drops his usual over-sentimental style and turns to a clear, incisive, almost scathing portrayal of character. Some of the people, Paul Saffron in particular, might appear incredible, but under Hilton's skilful pen we believe he could have existed. Hilton is more sympathetic with his women characters, so Carey is a nice, warm, generous person, even if she is addicted to wanting her own way and ruthlessly discards any person in her life at any time who interferes with her twin obsessions, acting and Paul Saffron.

Autobiographical story:

I SPIED FOR STALIN—By Nora Murray

Here is a true life story more fascinating than any thriller. It concerns one of the very few girls ever to leave Russia while the Communists are in control.

Nora Kozhenko, as her name was before her marriage, is a true daughter of the revolution. She was born in a railway box car, in 1919, while her father and mother were fighting in the revolutionary army. As her father later held a high position in the party, she grew up sheltered by privileges she did not realize were not shared by the majority of people. When, during her university years, her father was "purged" by Molotov, who succeeded Litvinov, she realized for the first time the terror under which the majority of the Russian people lived, and joined their ranks. It was only after many months of this hazardous existence that her life became relatively secure through her engagement to a member of the British Legation. With his aid, she managed to receive permission to leave Russia as his bride.

Now that she realizes her silence or speech will make no difference to the other Russian brides, that they will never be allowed to leave, she has published her story for them and for her own children, whom she wants to see Russia as she sees it—a great and beloved country in spite of the present maelstrom through which it is passing.

Two Company-Wide Appointments Announced

MR. J. A. BROCKIE

MR. I. W. FORD

MR. J. A. BROCKIE

Steps Up to Supervision of Public Relations Activities of the Company and Its Subsidiaries

Youth and its activities have always attracted Mr. J. A. (Jack) Brockie, Toronto Store, who has now assumed the supervision of Public Relations activities for the Company. Young Canada promotions, Eaton's Junior Council and Junior Executive were his "babies."

Mr. Brockie joined Eaton's at Toronto back in 1913 as secretary to the Promoter of the Eaton Athletic Meet. After some years with the General Office, he went on to the Merchandise Display in 1929. Rising to supervisor, he became responsible for a variety of projects such as store attractions, fashion shows and Santa Claus parades. His imagination, energy and enthusiasm have also been invaluable to War Savings, Red Cross campaigns and other causes in the public life of Toronto, making him as familiar a figure outside the Company as within it.

MR. I. W. FORD

Appointed to Staff Superintendent of the Company and Its Subsidiaries

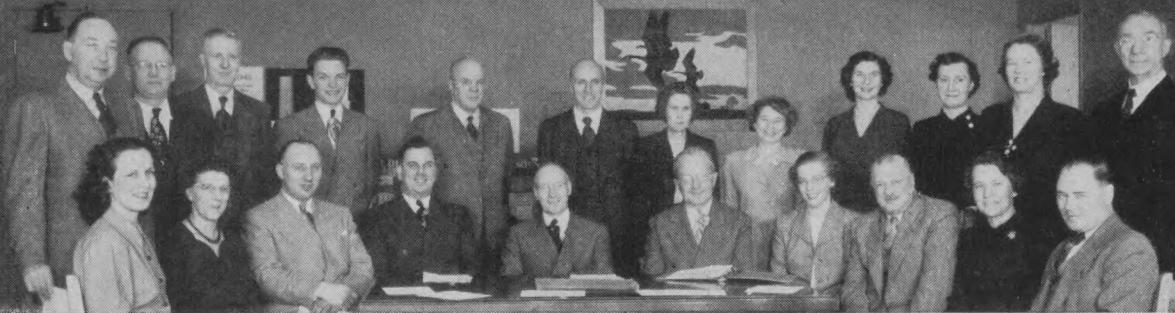

In 1920, when Mr. I. W. Ford had to do research for a thesis for his final school year, he chose The T. Eaton Company for his subject, and became so enthralled with it that he decided his chance of a career lay with Eaton's rather than accounting, his original choice.

He joined the Efficiency Department, and after short stays in various departments, where he gained a wide variety of experience, he was appointed Executive Secretary in 1937, where he remained until his latest appointment as Staff Superintendent.

A Toronto man with outdoor recreations, Mr. Ford finds his summer home at Thornhill an absorbing interest.

Both Mr. Brockie and Mr. Ford are well known to many Winnipeg Eatonians who join in extending their warmest congratulations.

OBeyJ THE LAW!

On Thursday, May 12, Winnipeg's traffic by-law for pedestrian control becomes law. This by-law recognizes that the pedestrian is an important part of traffic and urges both motorists and pedestrians to co-operate by respecting each others' rights and duties.

The Basic Principles of Pedestrian Control Are:

- Pedestrians must cross at corner and cross walks.
- Pedestrians must observe and obey traffic lights.

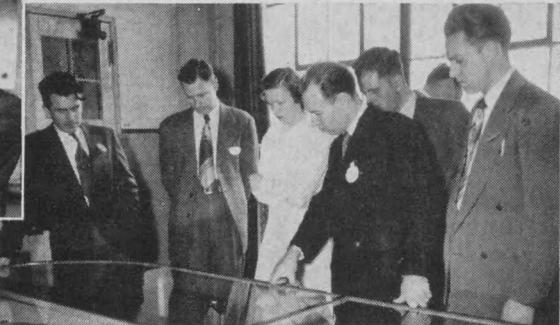

Motorists must yield the right of way to walkers lawfully in cross walks—and particularly when the motorist is turning at an intersection. If you're in doubt—

Here Are Two Helpful Booklets

A pocket-size booklet containing the by-law, also extracts from the Highway Traffic Act will be available at any Winnipeg City Police Station on May 1.

The Manitoba Driver's Handbook is another source of information for both motorists and walkers. You are welcome to a copy of this useful booklet. Simply call at the Safety Division, Old Law Courts, Kennedy Street.

So don't be a Jennie Jay or a Horace Haze—let's remember each of us has only one life to lose and—obey the law!

Third Row—Left: Mr. K. S. Chalmers demonstrating power-point test, i.e., lower temperature blow test on lubricating oil. Right: Miss M. Jamieson describes the contents of a display case.

Research Bureau At Home To "Jaycees"

Most of us know the Eaton Research Bureau as a spacious laboratory with white-smocked scientists intent over microscopes or test tubes and surrounded by intricate equipment and "museum pieces." But at noon on Wednesday, March 21, the Research took on a less conventional air. Covering its highly polished mahogany tables and desks were snowy table cloths upon which was spread a buffet lunch—the Research was at home to the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mine Host Brook Welcomes the Visitors

Welcoming the "Jaycees," Mr. N. S. Brook, supervisor, said that the Research Bureau was a practical form of research engaged in comparisons and quality control. Among its duties was the investigation of customer complaints and satisfying the customer. Other responsibilities were assisting in staff training, compiling reports and the checking of foods, drugs and other products sold by the Company to ensure they were up to the standard of government regulations. The large gathering then broke up in groups, each headed by a Research staff member who demonstrated various phases of the work.

Spokesman for the visitors, numbering some 80 young business men, was Mr. Eric Wind, chairman of industrial tours, who thanked the Company for the luncheon and the Research staff for a highly interesting tour.

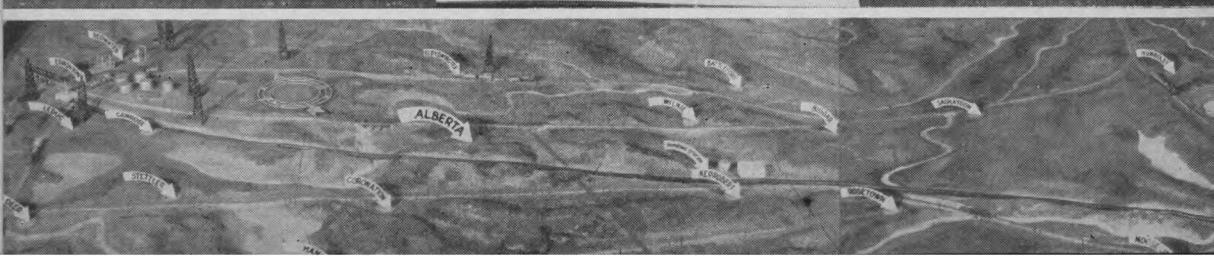

One of the most spectacular displays ever presented by Eaton's in Winnipeg, "Oil—Canada's Newest Wealth," was conceived and planned by Mr. L. V. Salton, General Merchandise Office, and built under the direction of Mr. Herman Carson, Merchandise Display.

Its purpose was to portray, in visual form, the scope of the enormous project which brings oil up from far underground, transports it, then refines it and breaks it down into the products without which our modern civilization could not function.

The exhibit was also planned to show the effect of oil development on the life and economy of Winnipeg.

This huge animated relief map of the 1,147-mile-long pipeline showed in panoramic form the location and route of the new International Pipeline, its pumping stations and the refineries it serves.

LIKE DRILLING FOR OIL IN LILLIPUTIAN LAND . . .

This perfect scale replica of a modern rotary rig drew thousands of fascinated visitors! Standing only four feet nine inches high, this lilliputian rig took over 2,000 man hours to build and cost $5,000.00. As the demonstrator described its operation, the little working model actually showed the process of drilling for oil! Its "daddy," or the full-scale rig, is a steel tower 126 feet high, can drill to a depth of 10,000 feet, and costs about $200,000.

The power plant and equipment will handle 100 tons of pipe reaching thousands of feet underground. A glass tube shown below the surface in the model rig enabled visitors to see the action of the bit drilling in the rock.

OIL—greasy, sticky, smelly black gold, drilled from the depths of the earth . . . nature's bounty and, with its many thousands of uses, declared man's most versatile servant. With oil now affecting the economy of Winnipeg, it is understandable that between March 24 and April 1, 121,974 people viewed "Oil—Canada's Newest Wealth," an exhibit prepared and presented by The T. Eaton Company in co-operation with the Imperial Oil Company and the International Pipe Line Company.

Held in the Donald Annex, the display was of widespread interest not only to oil-minded citizens and out of town visitors, but to students and school children who regarded it of important educational interest. One group of 150 students from Grosvenor School came in specially hired buses.

Most visitors first viewed the three motion sound pictures in technicolour which described the search for oil, the drilling and the laying of pipe. They then studied the pipeline, drilling rig, refineries, dioramas—showing stages in laying the pipeline from the aerial survey, the digging, replacing soil and reconditioning it—oil digging equipment and other features. A running commentary explained many phases of the work, while posters added educational interest.

When the Edmonton Area Struck Oil

The entire picture in Canada changed in the spring of 1947 with the discovery of oil in the Edmonton area. Prior to this Western Canada had had to import oil at high cost from foreign sources—now the West not only will have ample for its own needs but also a surplus for Eastern Canada, providing a cheap form of transportation can be devised.

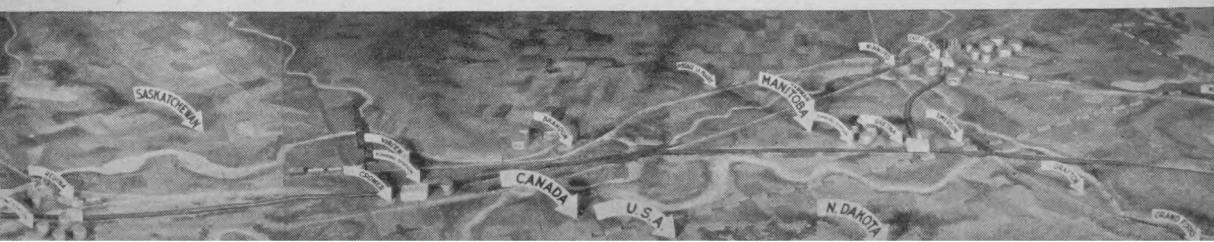

So, in the spring of 1950, construction was begun on the International Pipeline, stretching from Edmonton, Alberta, to Superior, Wisconsin. Oil is thus transported from the Alberta field on to the refineries at Regina and Winnipeg, then on to Superior, where the Great Lakes tankers carry it on to the Ontario refineries. And, of course, with the discovery and cheap transportation of Canadian oil there is a saving on much-needed American dollars. The pipeline was completely laid and put into operation in the short space of 150 days, and has cost to date 93 million dollars. (Continued on Page Six)

1,147 Miles of Pipeline Laid in 150 Days

Pictured across these two pages is a lateral view of the large relief map. This showed the 1,147-mile route of the International Pipeline which stretches from Edmonton, Alberta, to Superior, Wisconsin. This pipeline was laid and put into operation in the short space of 150 days and has cost to date 93 million dollars.

It is patrolled constantly by air, the plane hedge-hopping along the route looking for leaks and, in the spring, washouts. On the large relief map (below) the pipeline was illuminated and animated by fluid running through it. Map itself was illuminated by fluorescent lighting and showed all the cities and towns through which the pipeline passes.

STAGES IN LAYING THE PIPE LINE

Dioramas Depict Laying of Pipeline

One of the most comprehensive and realistic features was the eight dioramas depicting stages in laying the pipeline. Each of these miniature settings showed a different phase as the work progressed. They began with the first aerial survey, on through the digging, the laying of the pipe, the replacing of the soil, and finally the reconditioning of the farmers' soil for the next year's crop.

Even little children who did not catch the import of these dioramas were fascinated by the realism of the rural scenes with tiny machinery dotting the fields.

Six pumping stations along the pipeline route keep the crude oil moving at a steady pace. The initial capacity of the line from Edmonton to Regina was 95,000 barrels per day—however, with steadily expanding oil reserves being found in Alberta, four additional pumping stations are being added, increasing the capacity of the line to 135,000 barrels per day. From Regina to Gretna and Winnipeg the present capacity is 70,000 barrels per day, and from Gretna to Superior 50,000 barrels per day.

The Winnipeg refinery is a 10,000-barrel-a-day plant, costing ten million dollars. It will employ about 160 people, 80 per cent of whom will be local. It should go into operation early in May.

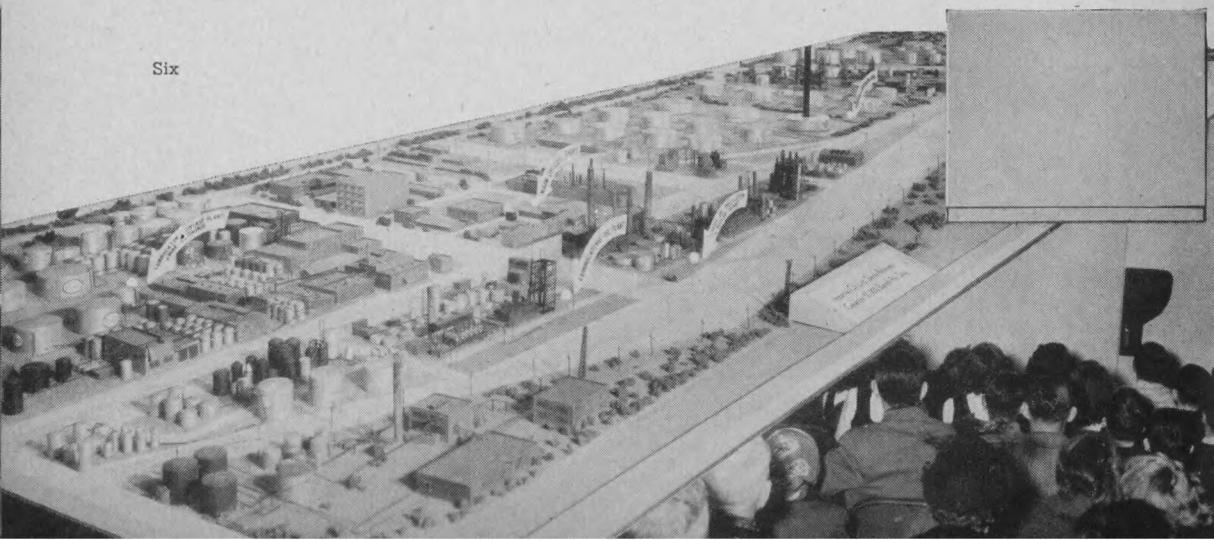

Refining is the Magic Key Which Releases the Useful Products Locked in Crude Oil

Thousands of visitors were attracted daily to the scale model (pictured below) of the huge Imperial Oil Refinery at Sarnia, Ontario. This refinery has a capacity that is growing from 55,000 barrels per day to 72,000 barrels per day.

A Movie Theatre giving continual performances throughout the day drew a total attendance of 16,291 persons. There were three sound films in a related series, and by attending these before looking over the various displays visitors had a better understanding of oil development. In technicolor, the films were: "Search Unending," "A Mile Below the Wheat" and "Artery For Oil."

Assistants' President Stan Houston (centre) presents cheque for $277.00 to Superintendent Charles Hawkins for boys' welfare fund. Secretary Herb Graham looks on.

SEQUEL

"The genuine, human boy may . . . safely be set down as the noblest work of God."

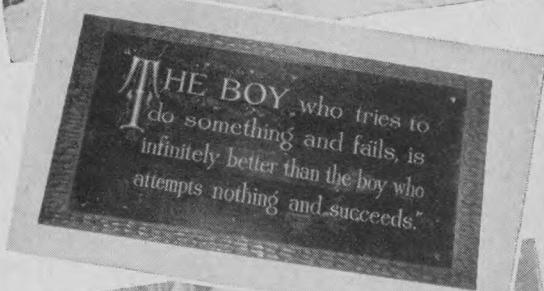

On Tuesday, April 10, Mr. Charles J. Hawkins, long-time superintendent of the Knowles School for Boys, died suddenly of a heart attack. One of the last official acts of this kindly man, who had in his heart such a great love for boys, was when he received a cheque presented by Stan Houston, president of the Eaton Assistants' Association, to boost the school's welfare fund.

In addition to the cheque, which was for $277.00, was an Eaton truck load of furniture and recreational equipment. The entire gift, totalling $464.00, was the net proceeds from our St. Valentine's dance which was held at the Royal Alexandra and attended by 2,000 Eatonians. The happy scenes pictured here are the sequel.

"This is the largest cheque we have ever received for our welfare fund," declared Super-

PAPER COSTS MOUNT

"Conserve 10% and Save Carloads"—
Mr. Jack Hutchinson Tells Assistants

Did you know that if Eaton stores across Canada conserve 10% on paper bags a saving can be achieved that would total nine carloads of bag paper per year?

This and other startling figures on the conservation of supplies were stressed by Mr. Jack Hutchinson, Supply chief, in an address to the Assistants' Association on Friday evening, March 30, in the Grill Room.

President Stan Houston introduced the speaker. He also read a letter of thanks from Mr. Dan H. Young, assistant superintendent of the Knowles School for Boys, in connection with the gifts of furniture and cheque for $277 presented to the school welfare fund—proceeds of the St. Valentine's dance. Miss I. Laing, assistant, Fancy Goods, was also welcomed by the president as a new member. Gary Peterson, five-year-old drummer prodigy, provided the program highlight.

Save $39,680 Per Year!

Requesting "assistance from the assistants" in conserving paper supplies, Mr. Hutchinson spoke of paper shortages and rising costs. These were due to defence preparations, increase in prices of pulp and raw material, shortage of box cars and other factors.

Winnipeg and Western stores were urged to conserve at least 10% (a very reasonable percentage) on wrapping paper, paper bags, gummed tape, wax paper, box board and other paper products, also twines. By using good judgment in sizes and weights, a 10% saving could easily be achieved—that would total $39,680 per year!

A 10% saving on wrapping paper alone by Winnipeg and Western stores would yield an approximate four carloads of paper per year, asserted Mr. Hutchinson.

Use the Right Bag

"We can't do anything about price increases," said our Supply chief, "but we can save wastage." Parcel inspectors were doing a grand job of conservation, he added, but much could be accomplished by others. Assistants were urged to help by suggesting smaller sized bags whenever practical.

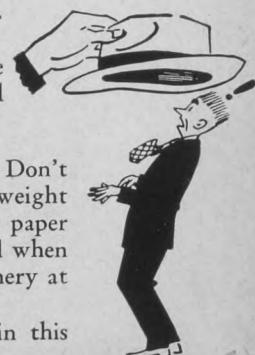

"You wouldn't sell a man a hat that was several times too big for him. Why use a bag that is several times too big for the article?"

When preparing for pre-wrapping, continued the speaker, consult the Supply Department. They will suggest a better, neater and more economical way.

"Blest Be The Tie"—That's Right!

Wastage on twines also could be reduced by using the right weight. Don't use a light weight wound several times around the goods when the correct weight can be obtained from the Supply Department. Please don't "toy" with paper clips by bending them out of shape—they can be used over and over. And when taking that telephone message don't scribble on the nearest printed stationery at hand. Use regular plain scribbling pads, available at Supply Department.

Thank you, Mr. Hutchinson. We're sure Eatonians will co-operate in this vitally important job of SOS—saving our supplies!

Let Flowering Annuals Brighten Your Home

By Peter Ross

Some of the most colourful flowers available for home beautification are annuals. Although annual flowers live but one year and must be sown each season, they are undoubtedly the most useful and beautiful in the garden.

Annuals are profuse bloomers and in most varieties the blooming period extends right up to frost. The variety of colours and growing habits of annuals make them indispensable for blending with perennials and in brightening dull areas in the border.

Some annuals can endure considerable cool weather and seeds may be sown in early spring as soon as the ground becomes workable; others require warm temperatures and cannot safely be sown until all danger of frost is past.

Careful Spading Essential

Careful spading and pulverizing of the soil for the seed bed is as important for flowers as for other plants. It should be borne in mind that most flowers have very small seeds, and that the delicate seedlings developing from them have little chance of survival in a rough, lumpy soil.

Cultivation with a hoe or garden cultivator is performed primarily for the purpose of controlling weeds. These pests and flowers do not grow well together, as the weeds compete with the flowers for moisture, food and sunlight.

Watch the Watering!

Most flowering annuals suffer from lack of moisture at some time during the growing season. Fortunately the average home owner is equipped to water his flowers during excessive hot spells, thereby assisting them over these periods.

When the seedlings are small, the waterings should be light and frequent enough to keep the soil in a moist condition. If excessive amounts of water are applied at this time or a heavy stream is used, the young plants may be injured or even washed from the soil.

See Those New, Easy-to-Read Seed Packets

Have you seen the new improved Eaton seed packets now on display at the Seed Section? In most varieties the description, cultural directions, where to plant, when and how to plant, with some suggestions, are printed in easy-to-read type on the reverse side, making it simple for even a beginner to determine whether or not he has the location suitable for that particular type of plant.

ORCHIDS TO YOU!

The drivers, as usual, are receiving "letters of credit" for jobs well done. This one is for George Cowan:

"I would like you to know just how honest the driver on our route is. About three weeks ago I was paying a C.O.D. order. I gave the driver what I thought was a new five-dollar bill. At the time I was paying him the phone was ringing, so I left him putting the money away while I answered the telephone. On my return to the kitchen the driver was still at the door. He handed me a five-dollar bill and said there had been two new bills stuck together. I really did appreciate his honesty and thanked him, but I thought you should know about his honesty."

And here's one for Charlie Petrie:

"This is an appreciation for the fine service of the Eaton driver on this street, who has been coming to my house for many years. He has always been most kind and obliging, and as I am a complete shut-in, his cheerful manner and kind: 'Hello, how are you today?' mean so much."

From Sibbald, Alberta, comes a letter thanking the Stationery Department for mending a fountain pen:

"I wish to thank you for the courtesy and the service you have extended to me in adjusting my fountain pen. It writes perfectly now. Whenever I have occasion to send an order away for goods it will go to Eaton's. Again, many thanks."

It's the Little Things That Count!

Another customer in a small town in Southern Manitoba wrote to Mrs. Donaldson, third floor Cake Counter:

"Thank you so kindly for the 30 cents you found on the floor which had dropped from my wallet. I only noticed after arriving home that it was missing. We cannot help admiring your honesty as an individual and congratulating The T. Eaton Co. on employees of such high principle."

youthful gal in the smartly tailored suit had four decades of service behind her.

Mr. Lorne St. John, supervisor, who has been associated with Miss Morris for over 20 years, spoke highly of her capabilities as well as her womanly qualities. On behalf of the staff, he then presented Ivy with a beautifully designed "train" case for travelling.

Ivy Morris came to Eaton's from Nottingham, England, when a mere slip of a girl. After a period in the M.O. Complaints and Audit, she joined the Stock Audit. A woman of quiet, refined tastes, she is also a home-loving person, and when not tripping in her Hillman Minx car, likes to garden. Dressmaking is another interest for which she has a decided flair. Many old friends over the West will join in adding their congratulations.

ORCHIDS TO YOU!

Add this to many more, Mrs. Lloyd!

The Women's Suits and Coats also share in the bouquets. Here is a letter sent to Mrs. Mary Lloyd:

"I write this little 'thank-you' note to say how pleased I am with your choice of coat. The colour is a very nice shade of green. The coat fits me very well and, as you say, can easily be shortened. The cloth is exactly the type I wished for and the style and the price, too. The several 'family critics' all agree that it is a most suitable choice. I shall not hesitate to ask you to choose any garment in future. I am a bit difficult to fit sometimes. Thank you again for your splendid service."

Curtain Call

The Drapery Department comes in for commendation:

A St. Paul, Minnesota, customer who carries a charge account with us, phoned long distance and purchased three pairs of Swiss lace net curtains which were not available in the U.S.A. A good tribute to our Company's service.

It is always a source of pleasure and satisfaction to receive letters like these.

The Furniture Department is in receipt of a letter from the Regent's Park Church W.A., which reads as follows:

"A short time ago we bought some furniture from you for Regent's Park Church manse. We were called upon very suddenly to furnish some rooms, and though our bank account was not very healthy, through your interest and help we feel we have bought well and wisely.

"We want you to know how much we appreciate your services and to thank you so much for same. Our minister and his wife are delighted with everything, and it came at an opportune time, as they were having company for Easter week. On behalf of Regent's Park Church W.A., I would again thank you."

Also to the Furniture Department:

"Thank you very much for the very fine job that was done on our chesterfield and chair, also for returning them so promptly. It is indeed a pleasure to do business with people like you. We have been customers of The T. Eaton Co. for almost 22 years and have always been well satisfied."

Arthur Farrier

40th Anniversaries

Irene Martin

ARTHUR FARRIER

Nothing like having a birthday and a Store anniversary on the same day, but that is what Arthur Farrier managed to do on April 8. He was presented with a Westminster chime clock as a gift of the M.O. Packing, where he has spent his entire service with the Company. A surprise party was held that evening at Arthur's home by his friends in the department.

Arthur was with the 15th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery, in France for three years during the First World War. His birthplace is Cheam, Surrey, England, and he is interested in all sports. He has a daughter, Eileen, with the Stock Audit.

"Forty years with the Company and still enjoying it," is what Irene Martin has to say about her long record with Eaton's.

On April 3, her anniversary, Miss Martin was presented with a Dresden figurine as a gift from the M.O. Correspondence, where she has been for the last 19 years. Her previous service was with the M.O. Complaints.

The Correspondence, Complaints and Postal Investigation entertained, on March 26, at Moore's in honour of Irene Martin and Mr. J. H. Merrett, head of department. Irene was presented with a handbag and a corsage.

One of the best known and admired gals around the Winnipeg M.O. (and that's taking in a lot of lovely femininity), Irene was born in Winnipeg. Besides belonging to a club in connection with St. Stephen's-Broadway Church, her chief interest is in planning her holiday trips and finding interesting places to visit.

intendent Hawkins, happily, as President Stan Houston handed him the donation on behalf of Eaton employees.

The fund it will help is used for providing extra treats for the boys, such as weiner roasts, field days, model airplane building; also prizes, small rewards for a job well done, a little pocket money or car fare for the boy without parents or whose parents are unable to help him.

Boy Rhymes With Joy!

The presentation took place on Wednesday morning, March 21, when a small delegation from the Assistants' Association drove out to the Knowles School. There they were greeted by Superintendent Charles Hawkins, Mr. Dan H. Young, assistant superintendent, and a crowd of bright-eyed, cheering boys of all shapes and sizes. Then the fun began!

Eaton driver, Mel Elliott, was quickly surrounded with eager helpers who unloaded his truck in double quick time! How their eyes danced as they lifted off the big console radio; those three big bookcases for their dormitory, the four big husky tables—the kind a stout feller really needs for work or play—those 24 badly needed chairs, too . . . and oh, boy! Look at the games! Hockey games, big shot, crokinole, dominoes, checkers, table tennis, bats and balls—$50.00 worth all told!

This equipment all unloaded, the visitors went into the office and President Stan Houston presented the $277.00 cheque to Superintendent Hawkins. While this was going on, the boys gathered outside the door and three ringing cheers rent the air. As the Eatonians glanced through the glass panel of the door at those shining young faces a lump came into their throats . . . "inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these . . ."

Congratulations On Your 35th Anniversary

JOHN HENRY MERRETT

"On looking back over the years," said Mr. Jack Merrett, head of department, M.O. Complaints, on the occasion of his 35th anniversary with the Company, March 25, "I found them full of hard work but happy."

Jack served overseas with the 52nd Battalion, Signals, for three and a half years during the First World War. His main interest outside Eaton's is his work with the Salvation Army Citadel.

Born in London, Ontario, he has two sons, Ken and Bert, both married, and three grandchildren.

The actual date of Jack's anniversary was March 25, so when he was presented with a chair on Monday, the staff wished him a happy Easter and happy anniversary and many more of them.

Mr. Merrett, along with Miss Irene Martin, was guest of honour at a banquet at Moore's the evening of March 26. Mrs. Merrett received a corsage, and Mr. Claude Osborne, who recalled the days "way back when," presented Jack with a camera and case as a gift from the gathering.

SAMUEL JAMES McCALLUM

The first hockey team ever to bring the Memorial Cup to the west, the Falcon Juniors of 1921, had as its star defence man 110-pounder Sam McCallum. He was also with the Varsity Grads' World Championship team of 1931. Then when the American All Stars baseball team played an exhibition game in Winnipeg, Sam was one of the pitchers to toss to Lefty Grove. All of which gives you the idea that for a lightweight Sam carries quite a punch.

Sam celebrated his 35th anniversary with the Company on March 29 when Mr. F. N. Cowley, supervisor, Sporting Goods, presented him with a chair, a gift from the staff. Later that evening, 85 members of the department went to the Orange Hall in Norwood for a bang-up dance in his honour.

Married, with a son, Gary James, and a daughter, Patricia Anne, Sam is proud of the fact that his father also spent 35 years with the Company.

Congratulations On Your 35th Anniversary

MRS. MARY (Johnny) LLOYD

"Have enjoyed my 35 years' service with the Company. We are like one large family and happy," writes "Johnny," as she is popularly known, concerning her service.

Johnny, who was born in St. Andrews, Manitoba, has always been in the Women's Coat and Suit Department. She used to enjoy bowling and curling, and is a member of two lodges and a church.

On the date of her anniversary, April 3, Mrs. Lloyd was presented with a pair of candlesticks by Mr. Graham Scrivener, supervisor, on behalf of the department. She also received a corsage of red roses along with good wishes for many more happy years.

ELIZABETH GORDON SIM

March 20 may not have been her 35th birthday, but many of her visitors almost thought this was the celebration when Betty Sim, who was born in Barrie, Vermont, U.S.A., celebrated her 35th anniversary with the Company and the M.O. Staples.

Mr. W. Hogg, assistant, on behalf of the department, presented Miss Sim with a gold wrist watch. He thanked her for her many years of service and spoke of the numerous friends she had made during her time with Eaton's. Girls of the department also entertained Betty at a luncheon in the Grill Room, where she was presented with a brown silk handbag.

Betty Sim has been secretary of the Sunshine Rebekah Lodge for 21 years and is a top-notch bowler with the Eaton League.

The glass fishing rod which the Farm Implement Department presented to William Page on his 35th anniversary, April 3, proved a great drawing card. A constant succession of men tramped in to wish Bill a happy 35th and incidentally try a few experimental casts with the super rod.

That evening about 40 of the staff, including some retired members, held a dinner at the Homestead for Bill. He was presented with a tackle box and bait. Mr. W. S. Crooks, supervisor, in making the presentation, remarked that Bill had not been absent except for holidays during his entire 35 years and had very seldom been late. Bill said the fact that he had not been late was due to his wife, who resorted to cold water, if necessary, to get him out of bed. Bill comes from Northampton, England, originally, and besides being an ardent fisherman is fond of hunting and hiking. In fact, any outdoor activity appeals to him.

Notes By Nurse Lawrence—

Do You Know The Care of Accident Victims?

If the stricken person is unconscious or complains of headache following a fall or being struck—

1. Notify the nurse.
2. Keep the person quiet. There is danger in moving a patient.
3. Lay him on his back. Raise head and shoulders in most cases; if face is unusually pale, keep entire body flat.
4. Don't rush. You are never at your best when excited.
5. Give no fluids, food or stimulant.
6. Do not try to arouse from unconsciousness by shaking or by other means.

Wheel chairs and stretchers are located on every floor in both Mail Order and Store buildings. Please learn the location of each.

E. LORNE ENGLISH

The morning of his 25th anniversary, March 19, Lorne English found a gaily decorated chariot at the Hargrave Street door waiting for him. He was escorted to the Paint and Wallpaper Department and presented with a ValPack travelling case, which will be very useful when he takes his quarter-century holiday trip by motor to California.

The staff met at Lorne's home the evening of his anniversary and staged a surprise party for him. Mr. C. S. Carswell, group manager, and Mr. R. N. Gregg, formerly of the department, extended greetings to Lorne, when he was presented with a motor rug to keep his wee "Baby Prefect" auto warm on the trip. Lorne is married and has one daughter, Joan.

FRANK EDWARD ANDERSON

"Ed," as he is called by his associates in the Delivery Department, had his 25th birthday with the Company on April 6. Mr. Clayton Tucker, supervisor, Delivery Department, presented him with a power drill as a gift of his associates.

Curling and baseball are hobbies of Ed's, but he much prefers woodworking. He enjoys almost any kind of repair work and especially enjoyed decorating the stalls at the fairs when he went on trips with Eaton horses. He is married and has a daughter, Arlene Ruth Taylor.

Welcome to the Quarter-Century Club

HOWARD GEORGE JEPHSON

An indoor and outdoor man is Howard Jephson, supervisor, Floor Coverings. He claims shooting and golf, cribbage and rummy as his hobbies.

Mr. Jephson's career in Eaton's has been a bit varied. He began in his home town, Winnipeg, in the Floor Coverings, where he was for three years, 1926-1929, then moved to Calgary when the new store opened there. He was in various departments there until 1943, when he came back to Winnipeg as supervisor of the Floor Coverings.

The staff, who had missed him while he was on an overseas trip, were glad that he arrived back in time for them to help him celebrate his quarter century on April 8, and as the Western Floor Covering managers were in town at the same time, it turned out to be quite an affair.

On April 7, Mr. W. Patterson, head of department, presented Howard with a marble-based pen stand, containing a perpetual calendar, from the staff, and 25 roses were sent to Mrs. Jephson. Then on Monday, after a dinner and presentation by the Western managers, they all joined the Floor Coverings staff at the St. Vital Legion Hall for a department party. Altogether over 100 people were present.

Mr. Jephson is married and has two daughters, Shirley and Dianne.

MABEL ELIZABETH COLE

From Bradford, Yorkshire, England, comes Mabel Cole, head of department, Beauty Shops, who celebrated her 25th anniversary on April 5. Her entire service has been spent with the Beauty Shops.

Mabel was presented with a three-piece sterling silver dresser set by the staff, and they held a luncheon for her at The Homestead on April 4. Besides many individual gifts, she received a bouquet of red roses from the staff and another bouquet was sent to her from the Toronto Store.

As for clubs, Mabel is a life member of the Winnipeg Canoe Club, she belongs to the Professional and Business Women's Club and the Winnipeg Winter Club, where she swims. She has a daughter in Montreal, Mrs. R. F. Bowden, and two grandchildren.

SIGRID JOHNSON

Sigrid Johnson, who joined the Eaton Quarter-Century Club on April 7, is very proud of her Icelandic background. She was born in Reykjavik, capital of that little country that has produced so many fine citizens for Manitoba.

When her family first moved to Canada they farmed at Lonely Lake in Northern Manitoba. Later Sigrid came to Winnipeg and joined the staff of the Lingerie Department, Corset Alterations section.

The department held a party in her honour in the Oak Room of the St. Regis Hotel, where she was presented with a wrist watch to mark her quarter century. Sigrid also received from friends many individual gifts on her desk the morning of her anniversary.

FLORENCE EMILY FLETCHER

A special day for Florence Fletcher, of Cardiff, Wales, occurred on March 22 when a gaily dressed guard of honour made of tailors' dummies lined up in the Shirt Factory to greet her on the occasion of her 25th anniversary with the Company.

Her gaily decorated table was laden with gifts, including a wrist watch and costume jewellery from the staff of the Shirt Factory, where she has been for all her 25 years. Florence is interested in golfing and bowling.

THOMAS DAVISON SCOTT

The M.O. Packing wished Tommy Scott "many happy returns" on his 25th anniversary, which occurred on April 8. He was presented with a gladsome bag as a gift from the staff.

Tommy spent 23 years with the M.O. Money Returns before moving to the Packing, and was overseas for four and a half years in the Second World War. He served with the Third Canadian Anti-Aircraft Regiment. Bowling and baseball are Tommy's main interests, and he is a former president of the Eaton Softball League.

DOUGLAS JAMES BENJAMIN FOSTER

"Favourite hobby is fishing and my summer cottage at Brereton Lake, which I took time out to build when the fish weren't biting," writes Doug Foster, head of department, M.O. Carpets, who celebrated his quarter century on April 6. (Doug sent along a picture of his cottage in the Whiteshell.)

The M.O. Carpets presented him with a leather Pakaway bag, and 25 red roses were sent to Mrs. Foster. The department held a party for him at the Norwood Credit Union Hall on April 6, where messages and telegrams of congratulation from east and west were read.

Doug, who comes from Moira, Ontario, is married to the former Marguerite Oakden from the Contract Office. He is a member of the Elmhurst Golf Club, Canadian Club, Augustine Church session, and Fort Garry Lodge No. 130, A.F. and A.M.

The Engineers' "League of Nations"

Top Right—Mr. Alex Bowman, head of department (left), introduces the retiring members who were guests of honour: Bill Kent, Dave Ruiz, Albert Oberdan, John Verhoef, Jim McMullan. (Quite a league of nations here—England, Spain, France, Holland and Scotland!)

Lower Right—The gentleman with the clenched fist is Bert McLeod doing his stint calling off the social one-step.

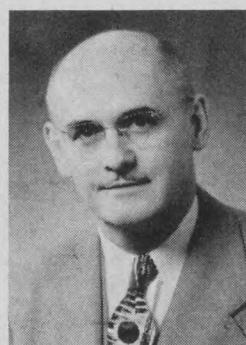

One hundred and sixty engineers, elevator operators, power house men, electricians, fire inspectors, with their wives and sweethearts, literally bulged the walls of the St. Vital Legion Hall on Saturday, March 24, when they entertained in honour of several of the members of their staffs who have recently retired or are about to retire.

Mr. Alex Bowman, head of department, presided. He introduced the guests of honour: Bill Kent, Dave Ruiz, Albert Oberdan, John McMullan and John Verhoef.

At the annual meeting held Monday, April 9, in the club rooms, the retiring president, Mr. Clayton (Jim) Tucker, expressed his appreciation to the curlers and the executive committee for their co-operation in providing a most successful season. Curlers' Wind-Up Is Brilliant Affair

McGEE Memorial Trophy is Presented to Jim Graham, Jim McClure, Jr., Ken Gibson and Ralph Walker

Flashes of wit and eloquence from top brass of the Manitoba Curling Association, the Roy Forsyth rink (Manitoba's representatives in the Dominion championship) and other speakers added lustre to the annual dinner of the Eaton Curling Club, Monday evening, April 2, in the Fort Garry Hotel. President Clayton (Jim) Tucker was chairman and welcomed the gathering of over 200 curlers present; while Vice-President Bob Laidlaw introduced the honoured guests: Messrs. Ross Wright, president, Manitoba Curling Association; Bob O'Dowda, hon. sec.-treas., M.C.A.; Jen Nissen, president, Past Presidents' Association; Roy Forsyth, Lorne Stewart, Alastair McDiarmid, Art Meers, Manitoba champions; and from Eaton's, Messrs. R. M. Pinfold, assistant general manager; A. H. Young, M.O. superintendent; J. A. Snowden, A. D. MacDonell, W. L. Palk, H. A. Steele, Jack Morrison, past president, Eaton Curling Club; Bob Laidlaw, vice-president; Len Wimble, 2nd vice-president; Earl Ramsay, treasurer, and Bill Hall, secretary.

Speeches were refreshingly brief but spiced with wit. Chairman Tucker set the tempo. Packed into his short address were the year's accomplishments; his thanks to the Company for their splendid support, also gracious tributes to the Paint Shop, the icemaker and others. He also thanked the press, to which Johnny Buss and Scotty Harper replied.

Jack Morrison paid tribute to the Manitoba Curling Association, and Ross Wright, the president, brought the house down with his witty reply.

Earl Ramsay, in a dual role, toasted the sister clubs and the Roy Forsyth rink. Jens Nissen, of Drayton, N.D., president of the Past Presidents' Association, replied for the clubs, while Roy and Lorne Stewart did the duties for the Manitoba representatives at the Dominion championship at Halifax.

The Graham rink, Eaton champions, was presented with the McGee Memorial trophy by Mr. R. M. Pinfold, assistant general manager, who also presented prizes to the Cameron foursome as runners-up. The club championship award was presented to Eric Moore by Mr. W. L. Palk, while group prizes were presented by Mr. J. A. Snowden, Mr. A. D. MacDonell and Mr. H. A. Steele.

On the Entertainment Side—During dinner, "Ace" Mitchell's silvery baritone led the community singing and a short variety program, directed by Ernie Fletcher, ended a top-flight evening.

Reclaims Watch After 38 Years

Our thanks to Mr. E. G. Sherwood, Advertising, Eaton's, Prince Albert, Sask., for sending this interesting newspaper clipping:

Nearly 40 years is a long time to remember what a pocket watch looks like, even one which you once owned, but Bob Mugford, of Lintlaw, just recently received his watch back after being in the repair shop at Eaton's in Winnipeg for more than 38 years.

In December, 1912, Bob was taking a trip to England to visit relatives. While in Winnipeg, en route, he took his watch to Eaton's to be repaired, so he could have it for the trip. The watchmaker told him it would be a few days before the repairing would be completed.

Unfortunately Bob had to leave Winnipeg the next day to catch the boat for England. He had been given a ticket for the watch, so he decided he would pick it up on the return trip. However, when he did return, funds were short, so he refrained from calling to get it, thinking he would be able to send for it later on, but time went by and he felt reluctant to send for it after so many years had elapsed. He was prepared to forget all about it.

While reading an old country paper just recently, Bob read an item there which told of a man having got his watch back after a good many years in a repair shop.

Bob mentioned this to a neighbour and told him about his similar case, only he hadn't received his watch. The neighbour suggested Bob should write Eaton's and ask for his watch, but he again felt reluctant to do it, so his neighbour wrote for him and sent the number which was on the ticket (which Bob had carefully saved all those years).

The return mail brought a letter from Eaton's asking for the ticket. They also stated they had an unclaimed watch which had been there for many years. The ticket was returned and the watch was sent to its owner.

Bob declares it is identical to the watch he left at Eaton's in Winnipeg on that December day in 1912.

The Paint Shop Party

The Paint Shop curlers had their annual wind-up on April 6 at the newly decorated Winnipeg Flying Club. Wives and sweethearts were invited and all turned out for a gala evening.

After a short talk by President Sam Hives, Mr. Bert Mitchell, acting as M.C., presented the quartet, consisting of Jack Newton, Jack Morrison (head of department), Jim Jenkins and Don (Oklahoma) Kirkland, who rent the air with their melodious singing.

Mr. A. Murray, supervisor, presented the prizes won by Sam Hives' group, and to club champion, Johnny Young.

Dancing, with balloons and spot prizes, was the next item on the agenda. The evening finished with refreshments, served by Walter Fogg and Bill Falls in full waiters' regalia, false nose and moustache included.

Bowling News

PIN-BOY CHATTER

By Al Beavis

HEADING FOR THE FINALS!

As we hit the press this month it's just about all over as far as this series is concerned, and everyone is anxiously looking forward to the big roll-off night, April 24, and also the big wind-up on April 28.

I think all will agree that the bowling season of 1950-51 has been a big success as far as good sport, relaxation, fine entertainment and those qualities that tend to good fellowship are concerned. We've all made new friends, have had a lot of fun, had good (or bad) bowling, thrown a few head pins and gutter balls—and are looking forward to another year of the same in 1951-1952.

The final roll-off berths are pretty certain in some divisions but strongly contested in others. To date, this is what it looks like:

Division One—Set-Ups were still the leaders with 17 wins, 7 losses; Jay Dees were next with 15 and 9, followed by Sparklers, 14 and 10; Nomads and G.O. Joes, 12 and 12 each. Top scores of the month were: Bill Adams, 819, 737; Lloyd Waddell, 787; Vera McCaw, 761; Art Wright, 718; Bill Liver, 726, 690; Bob Clarke, 652; Mary Matthews, 651; Jack Merrett, 682, and W. Mills, 659.

Division Two—Skippers are away ahead with 17 wins, 7 losses, while Greenettes and Red Hots follow up with 13 and 11 each. Capitals and Drivers are next. Ernie Wall led the scorers with 805, 708; closest to him were Bill Maskell, 752; George Robinson, 704; Marg Jones, 662; A. Inglis, 655; George Bennett, 692, and B. Wold, 644.

Division Three—Winsomes and Jokers are two games ahead of the Raiders who have 15 wins, 8 losses. Wal Bees and Eagles are next in line. J. Brodie has held the limelight in this section with scores of 758, 649. Those hitting the 600 circle were: W. Hogg, 613; A. Farquhar, 680; G. Quinn, 690, 672; G. Wallace, 645; A. Beavis, 638; J. Green, 620, and K. Dorge, 675.

Division Four—Monarchs hold a slim lead of one game over Seven Ups, Vikings and Peepers, who have 14 wins and 10 losses. Rovers are nearby with 12 and 12. Ed Oliver bowled a nice 693 (253, 279); Anne Solalatchi, 661; Doug McPherson, 681; Bob McQuarrie, 650; Marion Waldie, 641; Jean Ward, 633, and Jacqueline Bond, 632.

Division Five—Last year's champions, the Wiggetts, are three games ahead of Merrimacs (15-9) and five over One-Thirteens (13-11). Frank Crossley was tops with 701, also Stan Smith, 738. Bob Shusterove was still in there pitching with scores of 617, 654.

Division Six—Here another battle royal was in progress with Jeeps 15-9 over Split Atoms, Eurekas and Budgeteers, all with 14-10. Teleco's had 13-11. High score of 776 was by T. Ings, and the next by a lady of the section, A. Ellis, 754. Also bowling well were N. Hawkhead, 748; E. Westman, 739; B. Buckboro, 717 (351); J. Miller, 626, and C. Whitehead, 647.

Division Seven—Rip Saws seem to have this one in hand two games over Try Hards. Westerners were five games down. Only scores reported were: A. Grant, 733; Cy Napier, 690; M. Duncan, 579; B. Kent, 637, and H. Brown, 594.

Division Eight—The Aristocrats were still slugging it out with the Meteors, each having won 20 games; Selects had 19 and Dustpans 18 wins. Top scorers were: E. Craig, 630; D. Clague, 609, 657; F. Spice, 672; Albert Cable, 682; Ewan McFadyen, 656; B. Donnelly, 684; George Huntington, 642; Bill Southwood, 640; John Lemmen, 628, and F. Grassick, 641, 771.

Division Nine—Rockers, with 23-13, were two games up on Admirals (21-15) and three on Walk Rites (20-16). Dick Wright was high bowler with 670; Reg Stevenson next with 640; Frank Walker, 611; Ted Davis, 611, and Norm Wasyluk, 609.

BE GENUINELY INTERESTED IN EACH NEW PERSON YOU MEET

According to psychologists, we remember best those things which we want to remember. Unless you are truly interested in other people, unless you really want to make new friends, you certainly will not remember names.

Stop and think before you say, "I can never remember names." Perhaps what you are really saying is, "I'm pretty smug and self-satisfied. I'm far more interested in myself than in other people."

When you can meet a person you haven't seen for years and greet him by name, you have taken the first big step into a new world of friendships and wider opportunities.

Mail Order Night at The Fort Garry

The Honoured: Angus L. Osborne, Supervisor, M.O. Merchandise Office
John H. Merrett, Head of Department, M.O. Complaints

Thursday evening, April 12, was again Mail Order night—that enjoyable institution wherein the Mail Order management, having saved up their current anniversaries, celebrate them with a joint dinner party at the Fort Garry Hotel. The one we are reporting had but two guests of honour, Mr. Angus Osborne, whose 45th anniversary with the Company was an event of January 23, and Mr. John Merrett, who completed his 35th year with Eaton's on March 25. However, as the chairman, Mr. A. H. Young, put it: "I don't know of any two men who have done a better job for the Mail Order."

Among those attending the dinner were: Messrs. G. M. Eaton, R. M. Pinfold and W. J. McKeag, while Mr. R. S. McCordick also dropped in to extend his congratulations.

During dinner, Bruce Sutherland's powerful baritone led the song fest, with impromptu solo numbers by Tom (Furniture) Brown and Albert (Customs) Kent. By popular request, Tommy (Paints) Dodds sang a ballad specially authored for the occasion by Bill (M.O. Ad.) Gray. It proved such a hit that Messrs. Brown, Kent, Sutherland and Dodds decided to make it a quartet. Harold Price proved a skilled and resourceful accompanist. Dedicated to Angus Osborne, the hit parade number led off with: "I think that I shall never see a catalogue that pleases me."

Watchdogs of the Eaton Guarantee

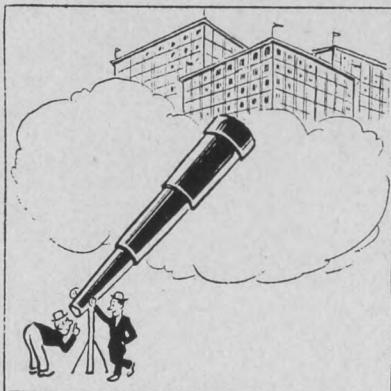

In his tribute to the two guests of honour and their combined contribution of 80 years with the Company, Mr. Young said: "Looking back, one realizes how the Mail Order business has grown and developed during the service of these men. In their early days they wrote labels by hand and even licked stamps. Angus Osborne started in the Shipping and on through Exchanges, Copying and other channels. Here he had gained knowledge that was a great help to him in putting in a system of much value to the Company."

"During Jack Merrett's 35 years with the Company he had developed into an expert in his field of Mail Order Complaints. Thus," added Mr. Young, "we have Angus Osborne who continually keeps us living up to the Eaton guarantee and Jack Merrett looking after the customers' interests after the goods are purchased." Mr. Young then presented both men with caddy carts as tokens of affection from the gathering.

"Lafayette, We Are Here!"

Following brief responses by both men, Bill Gray read from a brochure which he had written around the migration of young Angus Lafayette Osborne from Upper Canada to the Western frontier with his father. Both story and song, as it closed with these historic words: "Lafayette, we are here!" it brought down the house. Yes, sir, this one was quite the best in a long list of topflight Mail Order nights at the Fort Garry!

March 19 was the evening chosen for a stag at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kuhn, to whom we extend our hearty thanks, in honour of Bob (Roy) Rundle, who retired March 21. Hodgson, supervisor, presented Roy with a gift and wished him good luck in the years ahead. Refreshments were served and a sing-song held. A special treat was the splendid solo sung by Shirley Kuhn, ably assisted by her sister, Florence. We were thrilled, girls. Thank you.

The City Ad's Curling Classic

A conglomeration of highly skilled (?) curlers from the City Ads moved in on the Eaton Curling Rink the evening of March 19. Five rinks, each playing three ends, took part, so that each rink had a chance to take a crack at the others.

As the different games progressed, it appeared that Mr. Moray Sinclair (the man in the sedate red jacket) threw as mean a rock as we've seen for a long time; also those who were interested in learning a few rhumba steps had their opportunity by watching the sweeping display of both Mr. Sinclair and George Osborn. "Uncle" Ed Vopni seemed to fall by his usual smashing game, and was completely outclassed by that tall, handsome Paul "One-good-rock" Herriot. Patty Gladstone, Betty Sparling and Helen Crawford were throwing a bit "heavy" (cut down on that porridge, gals). On the other hand, Joan Sherman, Ruth McIlhagga and Mike Procak were, shall we say, a mite "light." (Oh, yeah!) Kay Kondryshyn, Peggy Irving, Bill Bannatyne, John Ellis, Lou Paget and, of course, Don Graham, played their usual sterling game. (Oh, well, gang, some's got it and some ain't.) Frances Anderson and Sid Vale, guest curlers, proved to be definite assets to their teams.

After many spills and broken brooms, Ernie Foster's "Art-ful Four" walked away with the laurels. This coveted curling cup was put together, or we should say skilfully constructed, by Russ Cooper, one of the skips. Also Alex Scalena, steward of the rink, donated a decorative wall memo for the occasion. Everyone then adjourned to the upper lounge where very welcome refreshments were served. All agreed it was a night well spent, despite the noticeable limp or tender shoulder that made itself known in the office the next morning.
